National speech and debate highlights

by Cindy Glasson

Darren Leonhardt and Logan Kay competed at the National Speech and Debate tournament in Dallas, Texas last week as the grand finale to their 2015 speech season.

Leonhardt competed in World Schools Debate, a five-person team event that brought competitors from Korea, Mexico, Saipan, China and other countries for the week-long event.

The team Leonhardt was part of consisted of Wyoming debaters from Jackson, Greybull and Green River, all members of the Wind River District.

The team posted three wins and three losses in the newly added national event, quite an accomplishment as the team had not met face to face until 2 p.m. on Sunday with competition beginning at 8 a.m. on Monday morning.

All the cases and preparation had been done via Skype with the team getting together on their computers each evening in their different towns.

“This group of young people were simply amazing,” coach Cindy Glasson said. “To know they hadn’t even worked together as a group until 18 hours before their first match-up and had a three-three run shows a lot of intelligence and determination.”

Once the debaters were out of the running, Leonhardt went on to do a supplemental event, expository. He managed to get through two performances before being eliminated in supplementals.

Logan Kay ended his speech career on a high note at Nationals, moving through six rounds of humorous interpretation before elimination.

Kay was ranked in the top 50 percent of the 246 humor competitors, missing the “Top 60” by just 11 points.

“He set a goal for himself when he knew he’d qualified for Nationals,” Glasson said. “He wanted to get one first place ranking from a judge while he was there and he certainly managed to do that.

“It was a great way for him to finish off his senior year.”

Kay also competed in a supplemental event, storytelling.

The event is based on a children’s book of their choice and competitors must perform as if they are telling the story to a group of children.

Kay made it through two rounds as well before being eliminated.

“As a whole, the Wyoming contingent did well at Nationals,” Glasson said. “Students from all over the state qualify in the various events and we all travel separately, but once we’re at the venue, the Wyoming kids are fiercely behind each other.

“It’s wonderful to see them run into each other in the hallways and ask each other how they’re doing in rounds or how their last debate went. Sure, in Wyoming we’re competing against each other every weekend, but once they’re at Nationals they’re truly competing together as a state.”

Thermopolis PRCA Rodeo results

by Cindy Glasson

The 2015 Thermopolis Cowboy Rendezvous PRCA Rodeo had a great turnout last weekend, bringing visitors and cowboys from not only the U.S. but several distant countries as well.

Visitors were treated to a night of rodeo action on Friday with bareback riding, steer wrestling, team roping, saddle bronc riding, tie down roping, barrel racing and bull riding, along with a salute to Wyoming’s 125th birthday.

Saturday night was “Tough Enough to Wear Pink” night and the latest inductees into the Wyoming Cowboy Hall of Fame, Denny Jones and Ed and Peggy Shaffer were honored part way through the evening.

Along with the talented cowboys from Wyoming, there were riders and ropers from Colorado, Alaska, Oklahoma, Nevada, California, Louisiana, Texas, Iowa and Montana to thrill the crowds both evenings.

Kids were encouraged to participate in the calf scramble both Friday and Saturday night with dozens of youngsters tearing across the arena after the ribbon tied to the calf’s tail.

Barrelman Extraordinaire, Matt Tarr, kept the crowds entertained between riders and events with hilarious banter back and forth with the rodeo announcer, Tim Fuller.

Three locals participated in the PRCA Rodeo on Saturday night, Bobbi Zupan in barrel racing and Hawk Whitt and Justin Ellis in bull riding.

While the trio had a great time participating, unfortunately a penalty kept Zupan from placing and neither Whitt nor Ellis managed to make the eight-second mark on their bulls.

All-around cowboy honors and an $851 purse went to Bray Huxtable who participated in steer wrestling and team roping.

Craig Wisehart and Weston Garrett tied for first in bareback riding, taking home $1,036 each.

Steer wrestler Tait Kvistad won $1,111 for his first place finish, followed by Payden McIntyre in second place and Bray Huxtable in third.

Travis Bounds and Joe Roderic took top honors and $987 each for team roping. Second place team included Cody Callaway and Justin Hammerich, with Joe Beaver and McCoy Profili finishing third.

In saddle bronc, Whit Peterson took home a $993 purse for first place with Brady Dinwoodie, Josh Griggs and Colin Stalley all tying for second.

Josh Peek pulled down $1,254 for first in tie-down roping. Don Coffell placed second and Randall Carlisle, third.

Dianne Bath placed first in barrel racing with a take home of $920. She was followed by Terri Kaye Kirkland in second and Jennifer Lewis in third.

Bull rider Drew Flynn took first, taking home $1,070. Brian Larson and Jacob Smith finished second and third respectively.

In all, nearly $29,000 was paid out to the participants over the weekend.
