Hospital district public hearing set

by J.D. Stetson

Actions are moving forward to bring the issue of creation of a hospital district to Hot Springs County voters.

The Hot Springs County Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees asked Hot Springs County Commissioners to hold a public hearing in order to gather public comments with regard to bringing the hospital district issue to the ballot.

Commissioners agreed to hold the public hearing during the commission's regular Aug. 20 meeting and planned to advertise to the public the meeting in the four weeks preceding the hearing.

Hospital Chairman Bill Williams and hospital CEO Robin Roling explained the results of a recently completed public opinion survey as well as a recommendation from a citizen task force to proceed with the process to bring the issue to the ballot.

Williams stated the hospital board voted at a special meeting, Thursday, July 11, to bring the request for a public hearing to the commissioners after reviewing the survey results.

Commissioner Mike Baker questioned County Clerk Hans Odde on the process to bring the issue to the electorate. Odde informed the board the public hearing would be advertised and held at the Aug. 20 meeting in order to satisfy state law requirements for a 30-day public comment period.

After the public hearing, the commission may or may not consider a resolution to place the issue on the ballot for a special election Nov. 5.

If the resolution passes, Odde informed the board that there is a 30-day period after passage of the resolution in which landowners can submit written protests. If landowners accounting for a minimum of 35 percent of the assessed valuation submit written protests, the proposal shall fail. Odde said that if the 35-percent threshold is not achieved, the clerk will issue a proclamation Sept. 19 calling for the election in November.

The commissioners asked for clarification with the distinct nature of the districting issue versus the building of a new hospital. Roling and Williams explained the need for districting lays a foundation for future funding of a possible building, but that it is a distinct issue to guarantee income to the hospital as it contends with federal and state funding shortages.

Also, the commissioners questioned the clerk with regard to turnouts of special elections versus turnouts at regular elections. Afterward, the commissioners indicated the commission is prepared to receive public comment on the issue, but they have reservations about rushing the process through a special election.

Baker told Roling and Williams he would prefer to wait until the 2014 election in order for the public to become better informed on the issue. Commissioner John Lumley said he concurred with Baker, but said based on the advice of the citizen task force and the hospital that he felt it should move forward to the public hearing stage.

H.O.G. Rally parade

Harley-Davidsons roared for several blocks as they made their way through town to the opening ceremonies for the 2013 State H.O.G. Rally last Thursday. According to Jenni

Dorman, who helped bring the rally to Thermopolis, the goal of 300 riders was met and exceeded, with perhaps about 400 in town for the event. - Cindy Glasson photo

Hospital survey results released

The results are in for the mail survey conducted by Hot Springs County Memorial Hospital to measure citizen support of having an election to create a hospital district.

The hospital's board of trustees received an overview of the results during a special meeting Thursday, June 11.

The hospital mailed surveys to 1,500 active voter households and received responses from 258 households, a response rate of 17 percent.

The company that conducted the survey and hospital do not constitute the survey results as a predictor of how the issue would fare during the election, but the hospital does consider the results a general undertone of the electorate.

The hospital first received results on a question asking respondents to answer their best advice toward moving forward with

by Joe Sovo

Rafter C Ranch unseated two-time defending champion High Mountain Ranch to capture the Thermopolis Lions Club Ranch Rodeo crown after competition Friday and Saturday evenings at the Hot Springs County Fairgrounds arena. Rafter C Ranch's top event was branding, where the five-person squad took top honors. The team scored well in several events to total 20 points.

Team members for Rafter C were TC Cuprak, Cayde Cuprak, Forrest Whiteman, Beau Jackson and businessperson Jeff Myers of Myers Chiropractic. Myers is the Lions Club president.

Hoodoo Ranch finished second overall with 17 points, edging High Mountain Ranch by a single point.

The rodeo had five teams competing in events that included Wild Cow Milking, Ribbon Roping, Trailer Loading, Team Mugging, Branding and Wild Cow Riding. During the evening Friday and Saturday, the rodeo featured Calf Scrambles and Mutton Busting for the kids.

Hoodoo Ranch was first in two events - Wild Cow Milking and Wild Cow Riding. Team members were Jesse Wilcox, Colleen Wilcox, Russ Hohnhorst, Cole Casciato and businessperson Jim Joiner of Jim's Lawn Care.

High Mountain Ranch took third overall with wins in the Ribbon Roping and Trailer Loading events. Members of the team were Don Peil, Brad Peil, CJ Nye, Shiloh Wallingford and businessperson Colleen Hanson of Red Rock Family Practice and Wind River Processing.

The Arapahoe Ranch team won Team Mugging, which was a new event this year. The other team in competition was Three Geese Land and Livestock.

Rain Check Ranch wins Calcutta

Rain Check Ranch claimed top money in the Calcutta held before Friday's competition, buying the Rafter C Ranch team that won first place overall. Hoodoo Ranch was second in the Calcutta, and Kathy Carlstrom was third. Carlstrom and Dan Perry were the Calcutta winners at last year's Ranch Rodeo.

Trenda Moore, the Thermopolis Lions Club secretary and Ranch Rodeo coordinator, said a total of $3,075 was raised in this year's Calcutta. Fifteen percent of that amount went to the Lions Club for its projects and the balance was paid to the Calcutta place winners.

"It was better than it has been for a long time," Moore said of the money raised with the Calcutta. She offered special thanks to all the Calcutta bidders and buyers.

Jesse Wilcox won the award for the Top Cow Horse. Judging was by an impartial spectator in the crowd.

Joiner received the Hard Luck Award. He was one of several contestants who were "wiped out" by a cow during the Cow Milking event.

"The heat and the cows were hard on the milkers," Moore said.

Jayden Rivera won Friday's Calf Scramble in the age 7-and-under division and Kolt Lewis took honors on Saturday. Chandler Maddock earned honors in the 8-12-year-old division both Friday and Saturday.

Makayla Moore and D'Von Sjostrom had the longest Mutton Bustin' rides on Friday, and Bubba Bowman and Kayden Sixberry stayed aboard their sheep the longest on Saturday. There were 16 sheep riders each evening, eight in two sections each.

All of the kids in Mutton Bustin' took home popcorn, candy, swim and miniature golf passes from sponsors, and a $2 bill from the Thermopolis Lions Club.

Moore said the date is set for next year's Lions Club Ranch Rodeo. It will be held Saturday and Sunday, July 11-12.

The Ranch Rodeo will celebrate its 25th anniversary in 2015, which will also be the 90th birthday of the Thermopolis Lions Club. The 2015 Ranch Rodeo is July 10-11.

WYDOT: Delay at bridge south of Thermopolis

Rehabilitation of three bridges started last week in three counties in the Big Horn Basin, and motorists should expect traffic delays during the repair work, according to Bryan Strasser, Wyoming Department of Transportation project engineer in Worland.

Prime contractor Reiman Corp. of Cheyenne has started work on bridges in Big Horn and Hot Springs counties, while work in Park County is scheduled to begin July 22.

Temporary traffic signals are in place, with single-lane alternating traffic, at the railroad overpass bridge on U.S. 20/Wyoming 789 about three miles south of Thermopolis – at milepost 128.47 near the Big Horn River.

“A 12-foot width restriction is in place, with delays of three to five minutes,” Strasser said.

Strasser said concrete bridge deck repair, expansion joint replacement, new deck drain installation and girder reinforcement is ongoing at the bridge.

“Improvements are scheduled to be completed in August, and the concrete barrier will be removed. An epoxy overlay on the bridge and installation of new guardrail is scheduled in September,” he said.

Other bridge projects

Another set of temporary traffic signals are in place, with single-lane alternating traffic, currently at the Bighorn Lake causeway east of Lovell on U.S. 14A at milepost 56.89. A 12-foot width restriction is also in place there, and motorists should expect traffic delays of three to five minutes. Strasser said repairs are scheduled to be complete about July 18.

“At that point, no traffic delays will occur until an epoxy overlay is placed on the bridge in September,” he said.

The Shoshone River bridge (Corbett Bridge) on U.S. 14A is scheduled for repairs beginning July 22. The bridge is located at milepost 6.52 between Cody and Powell.

Strasser said construction would take place on half of the three-lane bridge at a time with one driving lane open in each direction. During the improvements, a 10-foot width restriction will be in place.

The $1.8 million contract has a completion date of Oct. 31. The improvements include bridge rehabilitation on five bridges in Big Horn, Park, Washakie and Fremont counties.

There is one-way traffic over the bridge on U.S. 20/Wyoming 789 three miles south of Thermopolis during a rehabilitation project. Delays can be from three to five minutes.

U.S. 20/Wyoming 789 project nears completion

A $1.24 million asphalt overlay project is nearly complete between Thermopolis and Wind River Canyon on U.S. 20/Wyoming 789.

McGarvin-Moberly Construction Co. of Worland is the prime contractor on the 2.5-mile project between mileposts 128.35 (the north edge of the Big Horn River bridge south of Thermopolis) and 130.85 (near the Wyoming Department of Transportation office in Thermopolis).

The final phase of work is scheduled for Monday, with seal of the shoulders of the improved roadway.

Roadway work on this project included grading, milling of asphalt on each end of the project, asphalt paving, chip sealing and other work on 2.5 miles of U.S. 20/Wyoming 789 between Wind River Canyon and Thermopolis.

“Please slow down and drive safely through the work zone,” said WYDOT Riverton Resident Engineer Robert Scheideman-tel.

Contract completion date for the Wind River Canyon-Thermopolis pavement overlay project is Sept. 30.

Survey

an election.

About 44 percent of the respondents indicated the board should “move forward with the election for formation of a hospital district” while 28 percent replied “don’t move forward.” About 17 percent said, “the plan is reasonable, but I have a problem with a specific part of the plan” and 7 percent said, “the plan needs work and the board should consider holding off until next year.”

said “nothing.”

The next three questions asked respondents to rate the level of importance with regard to specific parts of the plan.

On the question of whether providing a new hospital would attract and retain surgeons and other healthcare professionals, 26.54 percent of respondents said it was “most important,” 24.62 percent said it was “very important,” 24.62 percent said it was “not important” and 17.69 percent said it was “somewhat important.”

On the question of whether the new hospital would be more efficiently designed to meet residents’ current and future needs, 28.08 percent said it was “not important,” 25.77 percent said it was “most important,” 23.08 percent said it was “very important” and 16.15 percent said it was “somewhat important.”

On the question of whether the 3-mill levy would provide financial stability to the hospital for the long-term, 30.77 percent said it was “not important,” 23.85 percent said it was “most important,” 22.69 percent said it was “very important” and 13.08 percent said it was “somewhat important.”

The final survey result reported asked whether the respondents supported the formation of a hospital district and the 3-mill levy. About 35 percent said “definitely yes,” 33 percent said “definitely no,” 17 percent said “probably yes,” 11 percent said “probably no” and 4 percent indicated they were “unsure.”
