Hall of Fame banquet Saturday

Five individuals or couples who have made a significant impact in Hot Springs County will be part of the third class to enter the Hot Springs County Hall of Fame during a banquet and investiture ceremony Saturday evening at Days Inn.

Every two years, five inductees enter the HSC Hall of Fame during a banquet and ceremony.

Class of 2014 inductees are William H. and Carrie Gottsche, Father Nicholas Endres, Eddie Todorovich, G.M. "Gyp" "Cookie" Hayek, and Arnold and Jessie Duhig. All are now deceased and will be inducted posthumously.

The evening begins with a mixer from 5 to 6 p.m. The dinner hour begins at 6 p.m., followed by the induction ceremony at 7 p.m.

The buffet-style dinner includes a choice of baron of beef or fried chicken, and potato, salad, rolls, cheese-cake and beverage. There will also be a cash bar.

Tickets for the banquet are $30 each and are at the Independent Record office or from Hall of Fame committee members. A limited number of tickets will be available at the door.

Relatives of the inductees or representatives of their families have been invited to attend the banquet and induction ceremony. Previous inductees into the HSC Hall of Fame or their family members are also invited.

William and Carrie Gottsche were longtime prominent ranchers at Rock Springs. Their daughter Marguerite was afflicted with polio and some relief from her condition came with visits to the mineral water at Hot Springs State Park. She died at age 14. William Gottsche died in 1939, leaving his estate to his widow. When Carrie died in 1944, her will indicated the bulk of her wealth would finance the William H. and Carrie Gottsche Foundation for Polio.

Ten years after her death, the foundation was established—facilitating the construction of nonprofit Gottsche Rehabilitation Center. The facility has brought relief to victims of many health-related problems.

Endres was the first pastor at St. Francis Catholic Church; the Catholic priest ministered in Thermopolis from 1906 to 1933. He was instrumental in the construction of the first Catholic church in Thermopolis in 1909 as well as many other churches in the Big Horn Basin. Endres left nearly $80,000 in stocks, bonds and cash in his estate to the Hot Springs County Carnegie Library when he died in 1962. The monies were used to help build the present Hot Springs County Library.

Todorovich was a Hot Springs County sheriff for 28 years—elected seven straight times. He served as president of the Governor's Crime Commission and the Wyoming Peace Officers Association, honored as Peace Officer of the Year during his storied career.

Hayek was a teacher, coach and administrator in the Hot Springs County School District for 45 years. It was as a vocational instructor that his lifelong impact on students, and parents, was most felt. The G.M. Hayek Vocational Building on Springview Street was dedicated in 1979 to honor Hayek's memory.

Arnold and Jessie Duhig partnered in publishing the Thermopolis newspaper, beginning just before Hot Springs officially became a county in 1913. While Arnold was editor and publisher and served in other capacities, Jessie wrote a popular "Musings" column for many years.

HSC Hall of Fame committee members are John Lumley (921-9141), Dick Hall (864-5552), Barb Vietti (921-1551), Dorothy Milek (864-3890), Tom Sullivan, Sr. and Joe Sova (864-2328).

With help from her husband Michael, Jacky Wright shows some of the contents of the Hot Springs County Centennial Time Capsule during Saturday's sealing reception.

HSC Centennial Time Capsule sealed during culminating event

We don't know what the future will bring, especially 100 years down the road. However, we are giving people in our community an idea of what it was like living in 2013 and 2014 with the contents of the Hot Springs County Centennial Time Capsule.

A Time Capsule Sealing Reception was held last Saturday at the Hot Springs County Museum and Cultural Center—in conjunction with a Hot Springs County Historical Society meeting.

Former Gov. Dave Freudenthal, a county native, was the keynote speaker. He attended the reception with his wife, U.S. District Court Judge Nancy Freudenthal. They currently reside in Cheyenne.

HSC Historical Society President Barb Vietti opened the 90-minute program, which featured readings of the histories of a number of Hot Springs County families, taking us from the pioneer and homesteading days in the early 1900s to today.

The Centennial Singers, directed by tireless

Ellen Mortimore, performed several entertaining songs. Rep. Nathan Winters of Thermopolis, a dynamic vocalist, sang in the choir and was the soloist for the choir finale, "Footsteps of the Faithful."

Drawings were held for a buffalo hide and skull and packages of buffalo burgers.

Jacky Wright, a member of the HSC Centennial Committee, read from a list of more than 100 items tucked inside the time capsule.

"We tried to capture our community today," she said, "and give people an idea of what it was like in our (centennial) year."

Inside the capsule were such items as letters of congratulations from Sen. Mike Enzi and Rep. Cynthia Lummis, a copy of what Sen. John Barrasso wrote into the Congressional Record about the county centennial, bank rates, newspapers, 2013 fair ribbons, school activity schedules, writings from school children about living

Views differ on MRAP vehicle

by Cindy Glasson

The Hot Springs County Commissioners heard a report from Sheriff Lou Falgoust on the acquisition of a Mine Resistant Ambush Protected (MRAP) military vehicle recently obtained by Hot Springs, Washakie and Big Horn counties at their meeting Jan. 7.

The surplus military vehicle is one of 165 such MRAPs distributed in 2013 by the Pentagon through the 1033 Program. The program originated in 1997 as part of the National Defense Authorization Act, allowing the military to donate surplus equipment—everything from blankets to armored vehicles—to police and sheriff's departments across the country.

Falgoust said he was contacted by Washakie County Sheriff Steve Rakness several months ago, asking if he would be interested in a joint ownership if the MRAP were to become available. In December, Rakness called Falgoust to let him know the vehicle was on its way to Wyoming.

Commission vice chair Brad Basse expressed concern with the acquisition, questioning why the commissioners had not been apprised of the situation, what the projected maintenance costs would be, what it could possibly be used for and what kind of image having a military vehicle like the MRAP portrayed to the citizens of the county.

"I think this is a case of the government run amok," Basse said. "It's a black eye on the county and I want to go on record that I had nothing to do with this and don't want anything to do with it."

"I hope we never need it," Falgoust said, and went on to cite at least one instance when commissioner John Lumley was sheriff that the MRAP would have been extremely useful.

The MRAP will be part of a three-county tactical team and is currently housed in Washakie County.

KTHE, KDNO radio stations purchased by Edwards Group

by Cindy Glasson

Music, news and local sports via radio are once again on the horizon for Thermopolis and Hot Springs County with the recent purchase of radio stations KTHE AM and KDNO FM.

The Edwards Group from South Carolina recently purchased the two stations along with two stations in Riverton—KRTZ and KQYW—as well as a translator.

KTHE and KDNO, previously under the banner of Carjim, LLC, have been off the air for some time now, leaving local listeners in the lurch.

According to new owner Jerry Edwards, engineers for the company have been up to Copper Mountain to examine the transmitter and do repairs.

What is holding things up right now is all the legal paperwork involved with the sale and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The FCC requires relicensing of stations every few years and since the two have been off the air for so long, Edwards has to get things up and running for 10 days and then go off-line again in order to prove everything works. During that 10-day period, Edwards said there would be a little music and station identifications at the top of every hour, but nothing else, on the air.

After that 10 days, it takes approximately 120 days for the license to be ready for transfer from Carjim, LLC to the Edwards Group—putting the official "on air" date some time in late June or July.

No decisions have been made as to the musical format for either the AM or FM station, but Edwards plans on being in town some time in March to talk with residents as to what kind of music they'd most like to listen.

"Everything will be one-hundred percent local," Edwards said. "We have wanted to add these stations for many years and we're very excited that it has finally happened. Thermopolis deserves a radio station."

Because of equipment problems in the past, neither station has broadcast at full power—100,000 watts—for quite some time.

Edwards has an agreement with engineers from Central Wyoming College to do repairs and equipment upgrades and is confident full power will be achieved for both stations when everything is said and done.

The Edwards Group also owns KVOW and KTAK in Riverton, bringing their ownership up to 16 radio stations and 12 print titles in South Carolina, Wyoming and Michigan.

Chamber's annual banquet set for March 22

by Cindy Glasson

The Thermopolis-Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce set the date for its annual Chamber Banquet at its meeting Jan. 9.

Although not all of the details have been ironed out yet for the popular event, the board decided to change things up a bit—changing the theme from a Hawaiian luau to a more formal affair, calling for semi-formal or business attire for the evening.

The 2013 Business of the Year and 2013 Citizen of the Year will both be named at the March 22 event.

The board discussed the possibility of renting out the front office at the Chamber of Commerce building as it had been approached by Joe Martinez with the Department of Agriculture.

Chamber director Meri Ann Rush said it had been some time since Martinez asked about the possibility of renting the space, but wondered if the board would be amenable to renting the office out to another business or individual if the question should come up again.

With one dissenting vote, the board agreed to rent out the space to Martinez if he still needs it and would consider other businesses on a case-by-case basis. The board also suggested a six-month lease would be preferable.

3-on-3 Basketball Tournament

The 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament committee met recently, and Rush said they have officially signed up two sponsors that have not sponsored the event in the past. Sponsorships for the annual event are still available and information, including the necessary paperwork, may be picked up at the Chamber office.

Rush also told the board online registration for teams is now up and running. Online registration for the 3-on-3 tour-namment, set for May 3-4, may be done at www.active.com/thermopolis-wy/basketball/basketball-tournaments/thermopolis-3-on-3-tournament-2014.

Rush also reported on the goings on with the Retail Committee, saying a new idea had been brought to the table—a BINGO game that would get people into the local businesses. The game may be started this spring in order to kick off tourist season a little early.

In addition, a flyer is being created that describes the top 10 reasons to shop locally.

The next meeting for the Retail Committee will be Friday,

Feb. 7 at Storyteller Books & Espresso.

Bus Tour reset for Feb. 22

Rush announced Tuesday morning that the Chamber's first Rediscover Local Bus Tour scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 18 has been postponed due to mechanical difficulties with the bus to be used for the event.

The Bus Tour has been rescheduled for Saturday, Feb. 22 and will tour a number of Chamber businesses on the south side of Thermopolis. The bus will leave the Chamber office at 10 a.m. on that date. There is no charge for the tour.

MRAP

military vehicle, the MRAP can withstand a variety of live fire ammunition, including 50-caliber rounds. In an area where high powered rifles are the norm, these vehicles can be used to protect officers from active shooters, remove wounded officers or citizens from live fire areas or transport 6-10 officers into an area where there is a chance of being shot at by a suspect. Basse said he hasn't seen anything positive written about the acquisition, citing comments written regarding an article that appeared in December in the Casper Star-Tribune, letters to the editor of the Tribune and comments posted to Facebook. "I hope it never happens," Falgoust said, "but we're not immune to it. These situations happen in small communities, too. "We can't predict what will happen. We cannot predict human behavior."

MRAP used in Boise

In November, the Boise, Idaho, sheriff's department used its MRAP to serve a warrant on a suspect. There was evidence the suspect had explosives in his home.

Officers found 100 pounds of bomb-making materials in the suspect's home and the MRAP was used to shield officers and civilians from a possible explosion. In order to answer Basse's question about the upkeep of the MRAP, a conference call was made to Rakness that included Rich Fernandez, SWAT Team commander for the Big Horn Basin. According to Rakness, they have no projection on what maintenance costs would be, oil changes and tires, but said there are people on the SWAT Team that have worked on the MRAP, so "it should be minimal." All maintenance costs would be split among the three counties. "What is a life worth?" Rakness asked. "A deputy's life, a school child's life?" Rakness went on to tell the commissioners the MRAP is strictly for defensive purposes. There are no guns attached to it as all are removed by the military before being placed in the surplus fleet. Rakness also told the commissioners about an incident involving an assault rifle in Washakie County last year in which the MRAP would have been useful.

"In 1996, in Big Horn County on Mother's Day we had an incident," Rakness said. "A subject fired hundreds of rounds at officers. We would have been able to end the situation differently that day if we'd had this vehicle. "It's not something we want to use. It's here as a last resort." "We are here to protect our community," Falgoust said. "We're not here to usurp the government. We can't all have the equipment we need in every county so we have to work together, pool our resources." Commission chair Mike Baker said he still was not convinced, but did say Rakness had been helpful in answering some of the questions the commissioners had. "We live in a time of people not trusting their government," Baker said, "and this puts a blemish on local government. It's just not 'Wyoming-ish', you know?" Baker also asked Rakness what kind of reaction he had received from the Washakie County Commissioners when they learned of the acquisition, to which Rakness said the reaction had been positive.

STATE OF WYOMING) OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY OF HOT SPRINGS) COUNTY COMMISSIONERS THERMOPOLIS, WYOMING December 23, 2013
The Hot Springs Board of County Commissioners met in special session on Monday, December 23, 2013 at 10:30 a.m. in the Commissioners Room at the Government Annex.
Present were Commissioners Brad Basse, John Lumley and Mike Baker. Also present was County Clerk Hans Odde and Administrative Assistant Penny Herdt. Chairman Basse led those present in the Pledge of Allegiance.
Approval of Agenda Mike Baker moved to approve the agenda. John Lumley seconded the motion. Motion carried.
Consider Brown Gravel Pit Purchase After consideration of the Commissioners' offer to purchase the gravel pit located on their property, Nate and Maecile Brown presented a counter-offer to sell the county their property for $70,000.00 with a change to the time limit for removing their retained gravel from two years to three years. John Lumley moved to accept the counter-offer with the only change being the time for the retained gravel removal extended to three years. Mike Baker seconded the motion. Motion carried. Discussion ensued regarding the title commitment received from County Title. The Commissioners authorized Clerk Odde to go back to County Title and obtain a complete title insurance policy for an additional charge. This policy is not required prior to closing as the title commitment is in hand. Clerk Odde presented the Warranty Deed and Payment Voucher for signature by the Commissioners and the Browns. The signatures were affixed to the documents and the deed will be recorded in the Clerk's Office.
Adjourn There being no further business to come before the Board, Commissioner Lumley moved to adjourn. Chairman Basse declared the meeting adjourned at 10:45 a.m.
