'Tis the season - for fires

by Drew Foster

The arrow on the sign displaying regional fire danger on Highway 20 South near the entrance to town has inched from blue to green — from low to moderate — hailing the impending arrival of fire season.

Fire Chief Mark Collins said relatively low spring temperatures and relatively high moisture levels are a double-edged sword with regard to fire conditions. The higher moisture levels have left the ground sodden for longer, but also have encouraged sheet grass growth, which could provide more fuel for future fires.

"In the next couple weeks, we'll be at a breaking point," Collins said, explaining that late-June weather will dictate when fire season officially begins.

If occasional rain showers persist, he said, fire is less likely, but a spate of dry weather coupled with a lightning storm could thrust the fire season upon the region.

"We're probably sitting better than where we have been in several years," he said.

May precipitation levels were lower than those in years past. This May saw 1.15 inches of precipitation compared to 2.72 inches in 2013, 1.32 inches in 2012, 6.8 inches in 2011 and 5.7 inches in 2010. June, on the other hand, is shaping up to be wetter. Through Tuesday, .69 inches of precipitation was recorded at the wastewater treatment plant. In June 2013, .19 inches were recorded, while June 2012 saw just .01 inches of moisture. June 2011 received 2.41 inches and June 2010 saw 1.06 inches.

Those figures, however, don't make much difference when it comes to certain types of vegetation's ability to burn. Collins said cheatgrass, for example,

Simpson hosts State Parks meeting

The public is invited to meet with Wyoming Department of State Parks and Cultural Resources Director Milward Simpson about the upcoming process for the development of a formal comprehensive master plan for the entire Hot Springs State Park at 6 p.m. on June 23 at the Hot Springs County Museum and Cultural Center, 700

Broadway St. in Thermopolis.

This is the second of the once-monthly visits Simpson committed to making to engage local citizens regarding this iconic state park. Also scheduled to attend the meeting are Kevin Skates, Hot Springs State Park superintendent; Domenic Bravo, State Parks, Historic Sites and Trails administrator; Todd Thibodeau, planning and grants manager; and Mabel Jones, senior planner.

Persons with questions may contact Hot Springs State Park at 864-2176.

Any groups or members of the public who wish to meet with Simpson during his June 23 visit or during visits in subsequent months are asked to contact his office at 307-777-7496.

Prayers answered: Delanie Price making progress at Children's Hospital

by Joe Sovia

Prayers of Parke and Khris Price and their family have been answered — to a certain degree — as their youngest daughter, Delanie, is on the road to recovery at Children's Hospital in Denver, Colo.

The 18-year-old Price was seriously injured in a one-vehicle rollover that occurred one month ago, the night of May 21, on Wyoming 172 — also known as Black Mountain Road — about 15 miles north of Thermopolis. The crash took the life of the Prices' 21-year-old daughter Madisen Price.

Delanie Price was transported to Wyoming Medical Center in Casper after initial attention at Hot Springs County Memorial Hospital. Suffering from head and neck injuries after being ejected from the car, she was in a coma, according to Khris Price.

The Price family is dealing as best they can with the loss of a daughter and the injury to their youngest.

"We need prayers and positive energy sent our way," Khris said while she and Parke were back home Tuesday to take care of family issues. "That's what's been helping us so far. It's amazing, the love..."

"My heart is broke," Khris said of the loss to Maddie. "We're taking it moment by moment and everybody is so positive....I'm on the 'positive train.'"

As a member of the Hot Springs County High School Class of 2014, Delanie was slated to receive her diploma just four days later. Fellow graduates Jamie Materi and Dylan Shaffer accepted the diploma on her behalf during an emotional time at the May 25 commencement exercises.

Khris gave credit where credit is due — the first responders and other emergency personnel at the scene of the crash. "The ambulance team was fabulous," said Khris, who first saw Delanie — known by family and close friends as Lanie — at the Thermopolis hospital.

Khris gave credit to Jim Lash, a local EMT, for his response to the scene — coming directly from his nearby home. "I believe Jim saved Lanie's life," she said, as he removed from her mouth dirt that was choking her. "He's very passionate. His quick reaction saved the life of our daughter." Local doctors Jason Weyer, Kevin Mahoney and Travis Bomengen were all at the hospital to help stabilize her before the flight to Casper. "The doctors did everything right," Khris said.

While still in a coma, a team of doctors performed surgery on Delanie's neck, which was broken in three places. There have been complications as she was diagnosed with pneumonia and a staph infection. Khris said an infectious disease specialist came up from Cheyenne and treated her for 10 days — to make sure she was responding to the administered drugs. "They were the right antibiotics. That was a scary period," Khris said and her mother attributes her ongoing recovery to her excellent physical condition before

Hot Spot Car Rally draws 111 classic cars, trucks, bikes

by Joe Sovia

After unsettled weather on Saturday, sunshine graced the 22nd annual Hot Spot Car Rally on Father's Day at Hot Springs State Park in Thermopolis.

According to organizer Dick Howe, who started the car rally with Randy Wahler, there were 111 entries in this year's "show n' shine," which featured classic cars, trucks and motorcycles.

There were 48 hands dealt in the eighth annual Ted Spatol Memorial Poker Run, which took drivers and passengers to six Thermop businesses to build their hand.

Many of the vehicles entered in this year's "show n' shine" participated in the Parade of Cars late Saturday afternoon after a little moisture and wind earlier in the day.

"It went great. We had a lot of quality cars," Howe said. "We had a lot of new cars (new to the show) and a lot of repeats."

Wall art trophies were awarded in nine categories. There were also People's Choice and Committee Choice awards as well as four Kids' Choice awards.

Committee Choice honors went to Mike Lamb of Riverton with his 1932 Ford 3-window coupe. Jack Turnell became a four-time winner of the People's Choice award for his classic 1957 Chevrolet Bel Air.

Johnny Dorman of Thermop captured the Off Road division title with his pink '78 Jeep CJ5.

The other division winners were: Unmodified Pre 1950 — Denton Buss, Riverton, '34 Chevy. Pre 1985 Classic/Unmodified/Stock — Morris Spannagel, Hysham, Mont., '56 Ford Crown Victoria (with only 19,000 original miles). Post 1985 Classic/Unmodified/Stock, Ray Parnell, Casper, '88

Chevy Monte Carlo. 2000 and Beyond — Scott Steiner, Cody, 2011 Dodge Challenger. Motorcycle — Lloyd and Joan LaFave, Casper, '07 Boss Hog. Muscle Car — Irun and Renee Kiljander, Gillette, '69 Ford Mustang. Street Rod — Randy and Lori Nissen, Worland, '36 Ford 3-window coupe. Truck — Ed Marx, Green River, '51 GMC 1/2 ton.

Nissen missed last year's Hot Spot Car Rally after previous wins with his '36 Ford.

Kids' Choice awards

Patsy Dorman of Thermop was one of the four Kids' Choice award winners with her pink Volkswagen Beetle — sporting the longest eyelashes in the field of classic cars and trucks. The other Kids' Choice winners were local entrant Ben Arthur, '85 Toy Truck; Glenn Johnson, '68 Chevy Chevelle; and Ernie Robb, '56 Chevy Bel Air.

Justin Taylor received a "hard luck" award, presented by Ed Downs of the Wyoming Street Rod Association, for the issues he's had with his '65 Ford Mustang 2+2.

Mary Mills of Thermop had a lucky Father's Day weekend. She won $144 for having the high hand — four 4s — in the Ted Spatol Memorial Poker Run. Mills also won one of the two pedal cars in the Hot Spot Car Rally raffle — the car sponsored by Owl Lumber. Fremont County entrant Dan Rench won the pedal car sponsored by Wind River Casino. Kirk Kuykendall of Thermop had the queen-high for the low hand, pocketing $96.

It was an enjoyable Hot Spot Car Rally for classic cars, trucks and motorcycles exhibitors and spectators alike.

Stan Goodwin of Casper took time from refreshing the shine on his '57 Chevy Bel Air to talk about the hobby he loves and the Hot Spot Car Rally. He and his wife Judy last exhibited here in 2006 and were happy to return.

"We enjoy the people. It's a form of art," he said. "Thermopolis — this is the real grassroots of our hobby."

It was Spannagel's first time as an entrant in the Thermop rally and he was rewarded with a division win.

Harold Bendlin of Thermop was anxious to talk about the '67 Pontiac GTO that he ordered new — directly from the factory. It's all original with the exception of the pipes and muffler he replaced some time ago and the new paint job — exactly the same as the original golf color. Bendlin even carries a bottle of Max Factor brand GTO aftershave and an "I Love GTO" mug in the classic car.

Right after the completion of the car show, with Rick Ridenour as the DJ and announcer, many of the drivers entertained the crowd with "burnouts" just outside the Kiwanis Washakie Shelter parking lot. The burnout creating the most smoke — to the delight of most spectators — was provided by Mike Forget of Riverton with his bright red Dodge Viper pickup.

Those burnouts placed the 2014 Hot Spot Car Rally in the record book and a new chapter begins next Father's Day.

Note: More photos from the Hot Spot Car Rally will be posted on the Independent Record's Facebook page this week.

only needs one hour to cure after a rainstorm. Sagebrush needs 10 hours, pine trees need 100 hours and lodge poles require 1,000 hours.

"The amount of moisture we've gotten doesn't really affect the ground fuels," Collins said, adding, "the stuff around town can burn."

Lower spring temperatures, extended dew points and high humidity have helped extend some cure rates, Collins said.

Common blazes in summer months

Wildland fires are the most common type of summer blazes, the fire chief said.

"In the last five years, the ones we've had have been pretty manageable," Collins said.

He partly attributed that to single engine air tanker planes, or SEATs, stationed by the Bureau of Land Management in Worland. The planes have been available out of Worland for about five years and assisted with at least three fires last year, Collins said.

"Our little 30-, 40-, 50-acre fires would have been thousand-acre fires," he said.

Collins said the planes could reach the Thermopolis area in about 15 minutes from Worland, sometimes beating fire trucks to the scene.

In order to better prevent grass fires, Collins recommended people not park vehicles on tall cheatgrass where hot vehicle components can ignite dry vegetation. He also recommended that people burning trash not burn in the wind and cover the fires with screens to prevent embers from escaping. Controlled burns should be called in to the fire department or law enforcement—both before and after the fire, he said.
