The Unknown Heirs & Devisees of the Estate of Lillie Mae Owens, United Security Financial, a Utah Corporation; Flagship Financial Group, a Utah Corporation; Arhinia Renets Davis; Kellee Linn Davis; and any person in possession, Defendants.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

TO THE ABOVE-NAMED DEFENDANTS: THE UNKNOWN HEIRS & DEVISEES OF THE ESTATE OF LILLIE MAE OWENS; FLAGSHIP FINANCIAL GROUP, A UTAH CORPORATION; ARHINIA RENETS DAVIS; AND KELLE LINN DAVIS:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Plaintiff has filed with the Fifth Judicial District, Hot Springs County, State of Wyoming, a Complaint for Reformation, Quiet Title, and Declaratory Judgment to Foreclose a Mortgage. This action pertains to the following property located at 212 E. Broadway Street, Thermopolis, WY 82443, legally described as follows:

Lots 25, 26 and the West 1/2 of Lot 27, in Block 1, East Thermopolis, or East Thermopolis Townsite, Hot Springs County, Wyoming

Plaintiff is requesting the following in the Complaint:

A. Judgment for Reformation that reforms the Note as of the original date of execution to show the lender as United Security Financial;

B. Quiet Title Judgment that confirms United Security Financial and Flagship Financial Group hold no interest in the Note or Mortgage and that all interest previously held has been transferred to Plaintiff.

C. Declaratory Judgment confirming Plaintiff holds a valid Note and Mortgage and all rights thereunder;

D. A judgment in favor of Plaintiff on its claim for declaratory relief, declaring that Plaintiff is the Mortgagee of the Mortgage;

E. An order of sale and decree of foreclosure of the Property in accordance with Wyoming law, where (i) the Plaintiff is to provide such publication and notice as is required pursuant to W.S. § 1-18-101, (ii) the Plaintiff is permitted to be a purchaser at the foreclosure sale and is permitted to "credit bid" the amount owed to it, (iii) when any time for redemption has elapsed, the Sheriff or other officer conducting the sale shall execute a deed to the purchaser of the Property at the sale and that the purchaser be let into possession of the Property on production of said deed;

F. Attorney's fees and costs to Plaintiff in its enforcement of its rights and remedies prior to and during this litigation, including all fees incurred up and until the date of foreclosure; and

G. Such other and further relief as the Court deems just and equitable under the circumstances.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Pursuant to the Wyoming Administrative Procedure Act and the Wyoming Public Service Commission's (Commission) Procedural Rules, the Commission hereby gives notice of the Application of Rocky Mountain Power (RMP or the Company) for Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity (CPCN) to construct and acquire the Rock Creek I and Rock Creek II wind projects and ancillary facilities under a build-transfer agreement with Invenergy, a third-party developer, and to construct system upgrades to interconnect the wind projects as more fully described below:

1. RMP is a division of PacifiCorp, an Oregon corporation, engaged in the business of supplying electric utility service to customers throughout its six-state service territory, including Wyoming. RMP is a public utility, as defined by Wyo. Stat. § 37-1-101(a) (vi)(C), subject to the Commission's jurisdiction pursuant to Wyo. Stat. § 37-2-112.

2. On August 9, 2022, the Company filed an Application together with supporting testimony and exhibits requesting CPCNs to: [i] acquire wind turbines and associated infrastructure for the Rock Creek I wind project, a new 190-megawatt wind energy facility; [ii] acquire wind turbines and associated infrastructure for the Rock Creek II wind project, a new 400-megawatt wind energy facility; [iii] construct upgrades to portions of its transmission system to interconnect the Rock Creek I and Rock Creek II wind projects. The Company included a Petition for Confidential Treatment and Protective Order with its Application.

3. The Company's proposed Rock Creek I and Rock Creek II facilities are located in Carbon County and Albany County, Wyoming, East of the town of Arlington and South of the town of Rock River. The facilities are sited in the drainages of Cooper Creek and Four Mile Creek, which encompass Diamond Reservoir, King Reservoir Number 1, and Dutton Creek Reservoir, to the North of Interstate Highway 80. The proposed wind facilities each consist of: [i] wind turbine generators and tower structures; [ii] an electrical collector system; [iii] a collector substation; [iv] access roads; [v] wind turbine generator foundations with base pads; [vi] an operation and maintenance building; [vii] communication equipment; [viii] a supervisory control and operating status data acquisition control system; [ix] main power transformers; [x] meteorological evaluation towers; and [xi] 230-kilovolt transmission lines from the wind facilities to existing substations.

4. The Company proposes to interconnect the Rock Creek I facility via an approximately 9-mile, 230-kilovolt transmission line beginning at the wind facility's new collector substation and running generally northwest to the Company's Foote Creek substation located approximately three miles north of Arlington, Wyoming. The Company proposes to interconnect the Rock Creek II facility via an approximately 38-mile, 230-kilovolt transmission line beginning at the wind facility's new collector substation and running generally north/northwest to the Company's Aeolus substation located approximately 11 miles northwest of Medicine Bow.

5. The Company also proposes to construct upgrades to portions of its transmission system to interconnect the Rock Creek I and Rock Creek II wind facilities consisting of: [i] expansion of the existing Foote Creek substation; [ii] expansion of the existing Freezeout substation located approximately 10 miles northwest of Medicine Bow, Wyoming; [iii] expansion of the existing Aeolus substation; and [iv] construction of approximately 3.5 miles of 230-kilovolt transmission line from the Aeolus substation to the Freezeout substation.

6. The Company states the proposed wind projects are necessary resource additions, designed to fill short and long-term resource need, were selected as the least-cost, least-risk resources to meet the Company's resource need, reduce the Company's reliance on market purchases to meet load and are critical to ensure resource adequacy in the region. The Company estimates construction to begin in 2023, Rock Creek I to be in service in December 2024 and Rock Creek II to be in service in September 2025. The Company states the total cost of the wind projects and associated transmission system upgrades is expected to exceed one billion dollars. RMP states it intends to finance the proposed projects through its normal internal and external sources of capital.

7. This is not a complete description of RMP's Application. You may review the Application at RMP's Wyoming offices and at the Commission's office in Cheyenne, Wyoming, during business hours or online at: <https://dms.wyo.gov/external/publicusers.aspx> (enter Record No. 17154).

8. Anyone desiring to file a statement, intervention petition, protest or request for a public hearing in this matter must do so, in writing, on or before October 12, 2022. Peti-

RC Airplanes

had flights that weren't quite so successful. But when it is, it's exhilarating."

Regarding passing on the sport of RC airplanes to the younger generation, Mulkey said, "The younger kids are the key to keeping this sport alive. As an example, the Billings Club so far has a number of youth that are getting involved. We have six or eight members in Billings right now that are 18 years old or younger, which is the lifeblood of anything, you know, if you don't bring it. It's just like a trade and without the young people coming in and taking over, the trade doesn't go anywhere, and the same thing with the sport."

Regarding some of the types of competition flying, Mulkey said, "You have ones that are called "pylon races" where they race around pylons and it's a timed event with laps just like a race car. Then you have "scale" where the airplanes are actually judged on how close they come to resemble the scale airplane that it's modeled after, both in flight characteristics and in appearances. And then you've got what they call "pattern flying", which is not very common anymore. But you have a routine that you go with, kind of like an ice skater with their routine. And so they're judged on how well that routine is performed. You tell the judges ahead of time, I'm going to do this, then I'll go up in the air and do a figure eight in the air and loops or whatever the case is. And so the judges judge that based on that. So there are awards for that. And then there is the latest, and the hottest, event called "3D flying". It's where you take an airplane and you make it do maneuvers in the air that an aircraft shouldn't be able to do. Such as hovering the airplane nose up in a vertical position and it just stays there."

Mulkey and Rollins love the gathering of fellow enthusiasts and pilots. Mulkey said, "It's a great sport, and the camaraderie that we have among each other is just awesome. It's like any other group. We share a lot of meals together and do a lot of visiting and sharing ideas. If somebody has a need for a part, somebody else's got it and then they can get back in the air. So that's a good idea."

The RC model airplane sport isn't restricted to men but also attracts women as well. Mulkey added, "We have some ladies that get involved with it as well, and then our wives are usually involved in it too because they're here with us and they do their thing."

Part of the reason for the RC airplane event is to rekindle interest in the sport in Thermopolis according to contest director Dennis Rollins. He said that some of the previous club's members passed away, but, "We'd like to get their club going again." At this time, Thermopolis has only one RC airplane member, Jerry Umbdenstock. Last year they held their first event in July but it was too hot so they moved this year's to September when it's cooler and they plan on getting into a routine to hold it every year. Rollins hopes these events gain more awareness of the sport.

Rollins said that these kinds of events bring people from all over, such as Casper, Cheyenne, Utah, and some even as far as Las Vegas and Washington. The hobbyists include all classes of people. Rollins said, "Everything from doctors to lawyers to bikers, you name it. And they come from every walk of life and they're here to have fun, period." Rollins glows about being good friends for a long time with the pilots and their friends and family.

Rollins added, "A lot of people travel from across the world." Rollins and Mulkey also provide a flight simulator computer system in one of their trailers. Mulkey has a large 4K screen connected to a laptop. The new pilot holds onto a transmitter control box that has several joysticks on it. It operates the same way a real-life control does. It takes some time and by using tiny adjustments, the user can easily get the RC plane to take off and fly around a virtual airport. This method allows the pilot to learn what adjustments make the plane perform and, of course, if the plane crashes, there is no real damage and the pilot starts over learning from their mistakes. The process takes patience and good observation along with skill. Overall, the experience is informative and exciting.

The event took over two days and a good number of pilots showed up. After the event, Rollins said that they had "a really good meet. The weather cooperated and hopefully, we'll be back next year."
